Task

Write a tutorial about building a GraphQL API with Prisma. You are free to choose your favorite GraphQL libraries for this task and also choose an application domain of your preference (e.g. e-commerce, social media, TODO app, habit tracker, ...).

The final app that is built in the tutorial should be available in a repository on GitHub.

We recommend that you use SQLite as the database but if you prefer to use another database, that's OK too.

Further notes & requirements

- The tutorial `should be submitted in Markdown`.
- Your Prisma schema should have at least two models and there must be a relation between them.
- Your GraphQL API should expose at least 3 queries and at least 3 mutations, you are free to come up with the concrete operations in your API.
- Your GraphQL API should allow for nested queries to retrieve data about the relation of your Prisma models.
- Bonus: If you have time left, you can also add a frontend to the application. This is optional.
